STS Policy Regarding Industry Symposia Held Concurrently with STS Standalone Educational Activities

Overview

The Society of Thoracic Surgeons (STS) recognizes the importance of working collaboratively with industry to meet the needs of the Society's membership. In an effort to provide more opportunities for STS meeting attendees to benefit from their relationships with industry, the Society has established this STS Policy Regarding Industry Symposia to allow educational and other programs offered by industry—and not developed or sponsored by STS—to be held in conjunction with STS meetings. These programs include educational activities, receptions, meal functions, investigator meetings, and focus groups. This policy document has been developed to facilitate overall meeting planning and for the benefit of STS members. Industry activities that take place concurrently with STS standalone educational programs and within 48 hours before or after it and are targeted at STS meeting attendees may not take place without STS written consent requested through submission of the attached Application, including payment of the applicable fee, and must adhere to this policy document.

General Rules

1. Activities designed by or on behalf of industry for attendance by STS standalone educational program attendees are considered industry symposia. There can be no implication in any promotional materials, handouts, or enduring materials that they are planned, sponsored, or endorsed by STS absent special arrangements with, and prior written approval of, STS.
2. Industry symposia developed by industry must be offered during times allotted by STS. STS has sole discretion to schedule all activities at its meetings.
3. Companies applying to offer industry symposia must be Exhibitors or Educational Grant Supporters for the STS standalone educational activity unless an explicit exception is granted in writing by STS. Exhibit space is to be paid in full before any industry symposium will be approved.
4. Promotional materials for industry symposia must receive prior approval from STS (see "Promotion" below).
5. STS does not provide Continuing Medical Education credit for industry symposia. Any industry symposium that offers CME must comply with ACCME requirements. All industry symposia must be in compliance with the AMA's Ethical Opinion on Gifts to Physicians from Industry.
6. Once STS approves the industry symposium, the provider, commercial supporter(s), activity title, content, date, and time as approved by STS for the activity may not change without the Society's written approval.
7. Organizers of an industry symposium are solely responsible for making all appropriate financial arrangements for their activity (see "Logistics" below).
8. Representatives from STS may attend the industry symposium without cost to audit compliance with this policy.
9. STS is not responsible for multiple companies offering programs addressing the same topic.
10. STS encourages organizations hosting industry symposia to evaluate their offered program and requests that the results of such evaluations be shared with the Society.

Logistics

1. Industry symposia will be scheduled by STS.
2. Organizations hosting industry symposia may use the full time allotted or a reduced amount of time but may not exceed the scheduled time without the Society's written approval.

3. Space for industry symposia will be provided on a first-come, first-served basis and will only be assigned after the proposal is accepted by STS.
4. Sessions must be contained within the room assigned.
5. Food functions must occur within the assigned activity schedule.
6. All expenses associated with the activity, including room rental (if applicable), setup, cleanup, A/V, electrical, telephone, shipping, etc., are the sole responsibility of the industry symposium host.

Promotion

1. All promotional materials must be submitted to Samantha McCarthy at smccarthy@sts.org for STS approval. STS must review and approve all promotional materials produced in conjunction with an industry symposium (e.g., invitations, announcements, signs, flyers, website information) prior to their dissemination. STS has the right to reject such promotional materials at its sole discretion.
2. A minimum of 5 business days are required for STS review of promotional materials.
3. Promotional materials should not be pre-printed prior to approval. It is not the responsibility of STS to cover any costs associated with materials that have been pre-printed and are not approved.
4. Exhibit booth representatives may distribute invitations and other promotional material for the activity at their booth.
5. The STS name, logo, and other intellectual property may not be used on any industry symposium announcement, including email, sign, publication, or other material, without the prior written approval of STS.
6. All invitations, promotional materials, and other materials related to the activity, print or electronic, must include the following statement: “This industry symposium will be held in conjunction with an STS standalone educational activity. It is not part of the official STS scientific program.”
7. Industry symposia consisting in whole or in part of educational sessions require the following statement to be clearly and prominently displayed on the syllabus and on all promotional and other related materials, print or electronic: “Continuing Medical Education (CME) credit for this activity is not offered by STS.”

Benefits

1. This industry symposium option offers a limited opportunity to provide a customized activity marketed to surgeons and allied health care professionals who are in attendance at the STS meeting.
2. An invitation, created by an approved provider of the industry symposium, will be included in an email sent by STS to standalone activity registrants (subject to “Promotion” above).
3. All industry symposium providers may also purchase STS mailing list licenses and email blast communications.
4. All industry symposium providers have the opportunity to post a sign advertising the activity outside the room in which the activity takes place.
5. While STS will undertake reasonable efforts to help avoid scheduling conflicts that might bear on attendance at approved industry symposia, it cannot guarantee nor be responsible for attendance at such activities consistent with the provider’s expectations.

Cancellation Policy

1. STS must be notified promptly in writing of the cancellation of any scheduled industry symposium.
2. No refunds will be issued for cancellations.

Violations and Sanctions

STS, at its sole discretion, reserves the right to revoke privileges for future programs of any sponsoring organization, supporting organization, or activity organizer involved in planning an industry symposium that does not comply with the rules and requirements set forth in this policy document.

Application Process

Please be thorough and detailed when completing the attached Application. Once a completed application is submitted, the proposal will be referred to relevant staff for review. The requesting organization will be contacted in writing regarding the outcome of the application.

Information on approved industry symposia will be forwarded to the hotel. The hotel staff will confirm meeting space assignments with the primary contact noted on the application and will convey this information to STS. After notification of meeting room assignment, the sponsor of the industry symposium will work directly with the hotel to manage all meeting needs.

In the event that final approval is not granted, STS will not be responsible for canceling any arrangements that may have been made by the applicant in connection with the proposed activity. In addition, STS will not be responsible for any costs incurred for the proposed activity.
